DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the compression coil spring (see claims 6 and 7) must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.
2. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

3. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure. The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

4. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the abstract exceeds 150 words.

Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

6. Claims 1 and 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by the admitted prior art of figures 1 and 2.

7. The admitted prior art is considered to disclose all the recited subject matter particularly a cap 70 connected to an outer surface of the second connection part 42 of the holder 40, and comprising an elastic locking member 51,60 integrally formed therein. It should be noted that the term "integrally" is considered to encompass constructions of multiple parts that are assembled and function as a unit.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

10. Claims 2-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the admitted prior art (figures 1 and 2) in view of UK publication to Lee '712 (cited in IDS).

11. The admitted prior art discloses all the recited subject matter with exception of a first bracket integrally formed on the holder and a second bracket integrally formed on the cap to support the axis. The UK publication to Lee '712 discloses (prior art, figures 1-3) a similar pipe locking device, which includes a first bracket 36,36a with holes 36b, formed therein to support a pivot axis 42 of the locking member 40. It would have been obvious to a person skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the device of the admitted prior art of the application with a first/second bracket mounted either on the holder or cap to support the axis.

With respect to claim 4, although the combination of the admitted prior art does not disclose third and fourth brackets, it would have been obvious to a person skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to provide third and fourth brackets in a crossing manner on the holder since it is considered within the purview of one skilled in the art to duplicate parts. It should be noted the third and fourth brackets are really two brackets, not four formed in a crossing manner.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The U.S. publication to Schiemann et al., the Japanese patent to Onda et al. and Fujiwara et al., and the German patent to Woefel all disclose various pipe connecting arrangements.
